the transfers.

THE COURT: So, you produce the records of other accounts, for instance, the transferor accounts?

MR. JACOBS: We do, Your Honor. We call that our initial disclosure production. In every case where there's an interaccount transfer, we replicate our production of the CADs, which I described earlier, for any related accounts. And by related accounts, to be clear, in our mind that means any account that transferred money to the sued upon account. We do provide all of that documentation.

And also, the only additional possible discovery that I believe would be relevant to the issues of transfers and net equity are the Defendants' own bank records. And as Your Honor I know is aware, this Defendant in addition to others, have vigorously contested our right to those documents. The Court has rejected those objections. That's no longer an issue in this case, although I think we're going to be talking about that in some others again later.

But in any event, our position is that the bank records have limited utility. Our experts will submit reports that detail exactly why BLMIS's books and records are accurate and reliable for the cash activity, transaction activity for every relevant account over the life of the account. Those reports have not yet been submitted but I can promise the Defendant and the Court that they will be

Page 29 1 incompetent to do the job, deliberately motivated to misrepresent what was going on in the transactions, that's 3 relevant. 4 THE COURT: So you can ask him at a deposition. 5 That sounds like expert discovery. MS. CHAITMAN: No, because I'm... If the Trustee 7 -- if it's been brought to his attention that the internal 8 records are full of factual errors, I think he has an 9 obligation to disclose that. THE COURT: I think I disagree. Let's go through 11 the request... As I said, you can make a motion to compel. 12 I can't tell you that you can't --13 MS. CHAITMAN: Yeah, I'd like to at the end of this, just so we have a clear record of what the rulings 14 15 are. 16 THE COURT: All right. With respect to one, list 17 the name and address... Well, I don't have to read it. 18 It's in there. MS. CHAITMAN: Yeah. 19 THE COURT: I'm looking at Document 63-1. MR. JACOBS: Right. 22 THE COURT: Is there an objection to that? MR. JACOBS: Yes, Your Honor. This request is 23 24 like the other... As the Court pointed out with respect to 25 other requests, this request is essentially seeking our work

Page 30 1 product. 2 THE COURT: That was my reaction when I saw it. 3 MR. JACOBS: And I explained to Ms. Chaitman on 4 the phone yesterday that, as she knows, there are 5 potentially upcoming depositions of BLMIS employees 6 happening in the PW context. She has a right to transcripts 7 of those depositions or to participate. 8 THE COURT: Does she have the right to ask you who 9 you spoke to? Forgetting about what they said. 10 MR. JACOBS: She absolutely doesn't. That's our 11 investigatory work product. And any mental impressions, or 12 memos, or notes that we took during our investigation are 13 work product that are shielded from discovery. 14 THE COURT: Certainly, when you asked for witness 15 statements, that sounded like Hickman v. Taylor, which was 16 the issue in that case. 17 MS. CHAITMAN: You know what, Judge? The reason I 18 want to brief that issue is that a SIPA trustee has specific 19 obligations to investigate the debtor and report to the 20 creditor body on what he finds. And I think that there's a 21 very strong issue there. This is not a typical adversary. 22 This is an adversary who's appointed pursuant to a federal 23 statute, which was intended to protect the customers. 24 THE COURT: Well, the same is true of a trustee, 25 as a representative of the estate.

Page 53 1 MS. CHAITMAN: Yeah, I did. I will go back and 2 look at it again. I do not believe that it broke it down 3 that way, but I will look at it. THE COURT: All right. 14 I think is permissible. 4 5 That goes back to the computation of net equity, which is 6 basically the same as the computation of fictitious profits. 7 MR. JACOBS: Right. 8 THE COURT: And, you know, she's entitled to 9 inquire to how you computed the net equity in a particular account. Now, it may make sense -- I don't know how you're 10 11 going to do this with one expert and however many cases you 12 have at this point, but she's certainly entitled to ask how 13 did you compute the next equity in the transferor account 14 back in whenever it was. 15 MR. JACOBS: I don't disagree, Your Honor. 16 a subject of expert reports that will be proffered in expert 17 discovery. There are three. THE COURT: Yeah, I mean, some of this may be 18 19 relevant but premature. That's all I'm suggesting. 20 MS. CHAITMAN: But why do I have to wait for an 21 expert report? This is a factual issue. I don't even think 22 23 THE COURT: But you've gotten the information 24 already. 25 MR. JACOBS: We've produced 100 percent of the
